Summary

Here is an opportunity to invest and become part of what could be the next big thing in the food industry. This start up has a proven product and a solid core of industry professionals heading it up. Capital is needed to produce the opening rounds of product and to hire a CEO and cover other operating expenses. Test marketing has proven the viability of the product which has an enormous market potential worldwide. Buyers for some major entities were used in the product testing phase and were very impressed and have made it clear that they are ready to commit once the company can supply the demand. Very impressive branding opportunity with great visuals and IP. For more information please contact Kendric Foults directly at 310-968-2369 or email at kfoults@bizex.net
