Summary

Motivated seller looking to hand off this great business to a new owner! Seller-financing available.

For sale is this whole body cryotherapy center located in West Los Angeles, California. Cryotherapy is the use of extremely low temperatures to address a variety of health issues from joint pain to muscle soreness, weight loss to skin problems and overall wellness. The studio provides a healthier path to effective pain management than habit forming prescription drugs and compliments physical therapy treatment plans.

Location:

The retail space presentation outshines the competition in cleanliness, comfort and atmosphere. Location and signage is outstanding and situated with a storefront facing one of the busiest streets in the city.

Reviews:

In less than a year, the business' employees have taken great care of their clients and it has reflected directly in their phenomenal Yelp presence with an outstanding rating.

Ideal New Owner:

This a great growth opportunity for someone with a health and wellness background who is able to increase awareness of the company brand in this growing industry.
