Summary

Established, remotely-operated software and CRM services business serving the residential construction and remodeling industry, offering a subscription-based platform that clients rely on to run daily operations. The business generates approximately $1.19 million in trailing-twelve-month revenue with an estimated $768,000 in seller's discretionary earnings (64% margin), driven by roughly 180 recurring monthly subscribers with no meaningful customer concentration and very low churn. New clients arrive almost entirely through referral, and the company's largest cost is fixed under a multi-year contract, creating strong operating leverage as the client base grows. Most notably, the business is exceptionally owner-light: the owner works approximately seven hours per week, with a capable, long-tenured assistant handling day-to-day operations who is expected to remain, making for a smooth ownership transition. The owner is exiting to pursue other opportunities. An ideal acquisition for a buyer seeking a profitable, scalable, low-time-commitment business with recurring revenue and clear growth potential.
